

A Union Reform Party Organized.
CONCORD, N. C., June 16.—The State Reform Convener met last evening, every county but Robeson represented by white and colored delegates.

After organizing the convention adjourned until this morning, when a platform was adopted naming the organization "The Union Reform Party," and recognizing the principles of the Constitution as fundamental law and unqualified facts.

The convention nominated for B. Carpenter, a Kentuckian and tried Republican, now one of the circuit judges of South Carolina. He was a colonel in the Federal army. The nomination nominated for Lieutenant Governor General M. C. Butler, an ex-confederate, and his candidacy was endorsed by colored delegates and was unanimous. The proceedings were harmonious and unanimous.

THE AMERICAN VISITORS.

Red Cloud's Speech at Cooper Institute.
NEW YORK, June 16.—At the Cooper Institute, Red Cloud said that she reports of the doings of the Indians were all one-sided and contained: "There is some good in us, although you say we are savages and uncivilized. You give us all the credit for our virtues, and nothing for our vices.

The Great Spirit made us poor and ignorant, but you can't say we are bad. We have children to raise, like you, and we want you to help us to raise them. In 1863 the Great Father made a treaty with us, we signed it, and we kept it. They have broken it.

The Great Spirit is still suffering from great.
